

GRAVEL PIT FINDS

Commissioned by the Archaeological Museum of Ulm (Southern Germany), Archaeo-Technik created an exceptional showcase in 2002. To present the finds brought to light by dredges in gravel pits near the River Danube in their context, we built a walk-in display cabinet and decorated it in- and outside with thousands of pebbles in order to imitate a gravel pit. Through several „peepholes“ of different size and height visitors can take a look at the presented prehistoric objects, from neolithic axes to Roman tombstones.
